Let's Start!

Could you tell me more about what you do here?

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about people's interests and backgrounds using a wider range of language.

Ask your partner:

- Who do you usually have small talk with? What do you talk about?
- Do you like going to job interviews? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs, work, rules and regulations.
- I can talk about my attitudes toward an action.
- I can keep a conversation going and build a professional relationship.

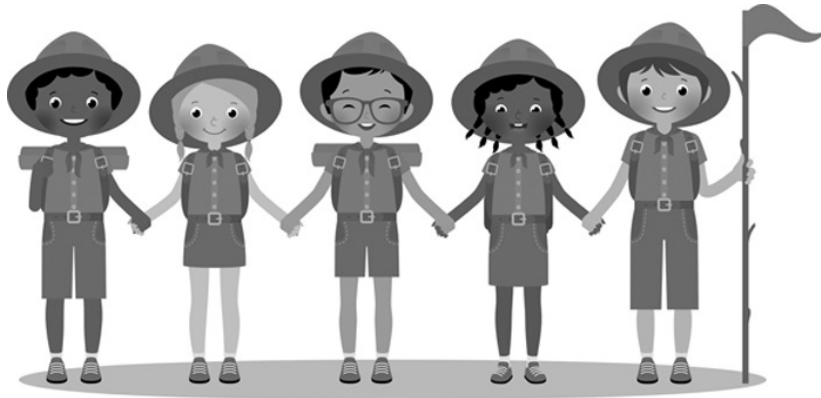

Let's Explore!

Ms. Mathison has a job interview. What kind of agency does she visit?

* An "agency" is a business or organization established to provide a particular service.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Mr. White: Welcome to TWN, Ms. Mathison. I'm pleased to meet you. It's a beautiful day today, isn't it?
- Ms. Mathison: Yes, it's a lovely spring day.
- Mr. White: Thank you for coming in today.
- Ms. Mathison: Thank you for seeing me.
- Mr. White: Are you familiar with the agency at all?
- Ms. Mathison: I've read a little online. Could you tell me more about what you do here?
- Mr. White: Of course. TWN, or Temporary Work Now, is an employment agency that places young candidates in temporary jobs. What kind of work are you looking for?
- Ms. Mathison: Well, I'd like to work as a camp counselor over the summer.
- Mr. White: I see. Can you tell me about your experience working with children?
- Ms. Mathison: Um ... I've worked in a science laboratory for the last four years. I've also worked as a teaching assistant since graduating.
- Mr. White: So, you don't have any child-related experience?
- Ms. Mathison: As you can see, I've had considerable experience working with animals and books, but I'm interested in sharing my knowledge with the younger generations. I hope to inspire them to maybe one day pursue a career in science.
- Mr. White: I see. I'd like to hear an idea for an activity you would do with the kids, if you were hired.
- Ms. Mathison: I'd love to do a nature walk or go hiking with them and have them create a collage with interesting leaves they find.
- Mr. White: Well, it was a pleasure meeting you, Ms. Mathison. Here is my card.
- Ms. Mathison: Thank you. I'm looking forward to speaking with you again.

Gerunds and Infinitives

A gerund is a verb ending with -ing (doing).

An infinitive is to + verb (to do).

There are rules about which verbs you can use with gerunds and which verbs you can use with infinitives.

Verbs commonly followed by a gerund:

Verbs that express likes/dislikes:

- like
- love
- enjoy
- dislike
- hate

Example:

Tom disliked confronting people about money.

The verbs like/love/hate can also be followed by an infinitive.

Other verbs that are followed by a gerund:

- anticipate
- consider
- delay
- complete
- involve
- suggest
- risk

You use gerunds after prepositions:

- interested in
- good at

Example:

I'm interested in sharing my knowledge with the younger generations.

These are some verbs that are followed by an infinitive:

- hope
- proceed

Learning Points

- seem
- decide
- start
- would love

Example:

I would love to do a nature walk or go hiking with them.

You use Infinitives after adjectives.

Example:

I'm pleased to meet you.

Examples:

- Thank you for seeing me.
- I'm pleased to meet you.
- I'd like to work as a camp counselor over the summer.
- I'm interested in sharing my knowledge with the younger generations.
- I hope to inspire them to maybe one day pursue a career in science.

Conversations in a Work Environment

When talking at work, there are several scenarios that may arise, each with their own sets of functional language.

You may have to meet someone new, have small talk, ask follow up questions or end a conversation politely. All of these things help to build professional relationships.

Small talk is light conversation to create a friendly feeling between people. Topics are usually about the weather, news or sports - things that are considered "safe" or neutral.

Example:

It's a beautiful day today, isn't it?

Yes, it's a lovely spring day.

How about those New York Yankees?

Did you hear about the robbery downtown?

Look at the chart for examples of other kinds of workplace functional language.

Functional Language	Example
Meeting someone new	I'm pleased to meet you. Thank you for coming in today. Thank you for seeing me.
Keeping the conversation going	Could you tell me more about what you do here? Can you tell me about your experience?
Ending the conversation	Well, it was a pleasure meeting you. Here is my card. Thank you. I'm looking forward to speaking with you again.
