

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What a strange interview!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about people's interests and backgrounds using a wider range of language.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever had an interview that went badly? What happened?
- What is the strangest experience you've had interviewing with someone?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs, work, rules and regulations.
- I can talk about what I should, ought to, had better, or am supposed to do.
- I can keep a conversation going and build a professional relationship.

Let's Explore!

Let's read about a strange interview. Why did he stand frozen like a statue?

* This is a simile - it adds description to a story using the word "like".

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

When I arrived for my interview, I was handed an application form which I was supposed to fill out. When I finished, I was told to wait for a few minutes. An hour later, a woman opened the door to an office and called me in. Her secretary was instructed to join us and to take notes. She said "You ought to sit in that chair there and face me." She started asking questions about my work experience. "You had better give brief answers". She interrupted me if I said more than one sentence in a row.

My interviewer suddenly asked me "Could you please change the expression on your face? Look sad." I tried to look sad, but I couldn't help smiling. She told me not to smile.

She said "You should follow my instructions without showing how you really feel." I was ordered to look disappointed. Next, she told me to look angry and disillusioned.

"Before you leave, you'd better walk around the room", she said. Suddenly, she shouted not to move. I stood frozen like a statue and she walked around me.

"Would you mind running around the room as if you were being chased?" She ordered me to stop again. I had answered an ad that said, "Interesting and Exciting Job" and I was beginning to wonder what was going on.

"It's been lovely talking to you, James. We'd like you to start right away".

That's how I began my career as a photography model.

Let's Practice!

James describes his strange interview.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle the incorrect words. Write the correct words above.

1. When I arrived for my interview, I was hand an application form.
2. I was telling to wait for a few minutes.
3. Her secretary was instructs to join us and to take notes.
4. I was ordering to look disappointed.
5. I was ask to describe my experience.

Let's Practice!

James is building a professional relationship.

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

1. _____ today, isn't it?
2. _____ about the new James Bond movie?
3. Would you _____ about that?
4. Well, I _____ our conversation.
5. It's _____ talking to you, James.

Word Bank

- been lovely
- mind telling me more
- have enjoyed
- It's a beautiful day
- What do you think

Extension Activity

Write a list of do's and don'ts for a job interview.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Imagine that your friend has an important interview next week.
- Make a list of things that your friend should and shouldn't do before the interview and during the interview.
- Write an email to your friend and give them suggestions for the interview.
- Exchange emails with another student and decide if you agree with the advice they gave.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk about jobs, work, rules and regulations.

☐ ☐

I talk about what a friend should, ought to, had better, or is supposed to do.

☐ ☐

I write an email with advice.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- application form (noun): a form you fill out when you apply for a job
e.g. I was handed an application form which I was supposed to fill out.
- brief (adjective): short in length
e.g. You had better give brief answers.
- in a row (expression): one after the next
e.g. She interrupted me if I said more than one sentence in a row.
- secretary (noun): a person who performs administrative tasks at a company e.g. Her secretary was instructed to join us and to take notes.
- to follow (verb): to obey
e.g. You should follow my instructions without showing how you really feel.
- disillusioned (adjective): disappointed in someone or something that you discover to be worse than you had believed e.g. Next, she told me to look angry and disillusioned.
- can't help (doing something) (expression): cannot avoid doing something e.g. I tried to look sad, but I couldn't help smiling.

Learning Points

The Simple Past Passive

You use an active structure when you want the 'doer' of the action to be the subject.
You use a passive structure when you want the 'receiver' of the action to be the subject.

Active sentence = She (subject) instructed her secretary (object) to join us.

Passive sentence = Her secretary (subject) was instructed to join us (by her).
It is not necessary to mention the object in a passive sentence.

You make the passive form of a verb by using tenses of the verb to be verb followed by the past participle.

The Simple Past passive form is:
Subject + was/were + past participle

Example:
I was handed an application form.

Examples:

- I was handed an application form.
- I was told to wait for a few minutes.
- I was ordered to look disappointed.

Learning Points

Using Modals to Add Meaning

You use modal verbs to add meaning to the main verb of a sentence. They help to provide a clearer picture or context to the reader or listener.

Some examples of modals are: should, had better, ought to and supposed to. This group of modals add the meanings of advice, obligation or necessity.

They come before the main verb of the sentence.

Look at the following chart with examples of each modal.

Modal	Meaning	Example
Should	Advice	You should follow my instructions without showing how you really feel.
Ought to	Advice	You ought to sit in that chair there and face me.
Had better	Strong Advice (Necessity)	Before you leave, you' d better walk around the room.
Supposed to	Obligation	I was handed an application form which I was supposed to fill out.

Notice the reduction of had better. In speaking, it is normally reduced to 'd better.

